Intellectual development and Personal Beauty considered in connection with Dr. Felix Gouraud's Depilatory POWDERS.

THE Sculptor, whose study is to imitate the exquisite workmanship of nature, portrays in his model of the human form, a broad and elevated forehead. If a fine forehead is a mark of intellect, it is no less an essential element of personal beauty; and it is of importance to those, and there

If a fine forehead is a mark of intellect, it is no less as essential element of personal beauty and it is of importance to those, and there are many such, possessed of this prominent feature, though obscured by the eneroachments of a too luxurious growth of har, to remove that portion of an excressnee which tends, in their case, only to deform. This can be done eachy, specify, effectually, and if used in accordance with directions, without the least inconvenience, by Dr. Felix Gonraud's Depilatory Powders. The furze of the lip, when announce, or the short hair on the back of a bely's neck, when too apparent—the hair of a mole, or the beard, when high upon the check, may all be removed, and eventually the roots destroyed, by the use of this preparation.
